

A Complicated Love

A straight father, a gay son and lessons from a road trip

“The most honest and revealing exchange between a straight father and a gay son that you’ll ever encounter.”

Cherie MacLeod, Executive Director, PFLAG, Canada

Road trip conversations

What happens when a father and son go on a road trip and the father begins to confront his own demons about homosexuality?

A Complicated Love will invite you to real engagement with your son or daughter or a member of your family who is straight or gay.

- Find out how to have real learning conversations with your gay son or daughter
- Learn about the Committed Love Code
- How has science and or religion influenced your understanding of homosexuality?
- How do you “Come out as a parent?”

When - TBD

Time - TBD

Where - TBD

Dene Rossouw

T – 778-386-5167

E – dene@complicatedlove.com

www.complicatedlove.com

www.authenticdialogue.com

Highly relevant for all parents of gay and straight children and friends of GLTB people.

Author Dene Rossouw

will talk about the conversations he had with his son - tense, tearful, painful and cathartic.

Learn about the fears, taboos and judgments that the author had, as he was eventually compelled to come out on behalf of his son - authentically, from religion and as a parent.

Dene Rossouw